Learning together

Now in its third year, eSchola is an opportunity for schools to showcase their ICT projects and programmes online, collaborate with other European schools, and win awards for their work.

For full details on eSchola, visit the website:
http://eschola.eun.org/

Showcase

eSchola highlights the best use of ICT in education from around Europe. Teachers can learn from their European colleagues and show their own work online to share with others.

Network

eSchola offers the possibility to join a community of teachers and schools from all over Europe and beyond. Teachers and pupils can meet, exchange ideas, and work together on collaborative projects of varying scale and duration. This year there will be a special opportunity for school twinning and networking.

eLearning Awards

The European Schoolnet eLearning Awards are aimed at teachers and schools to reward projects, activities, online resources and school websites for innovation and excellent use of ICT in learning and teaching.

There is a main eLearning Award category and a number of Special Awards. Last year, Special Awards included Multimedia and Science.

Last year around 760 projects from schools in 30 different countries were submitted. Representatives from the nineteen winning projects attended a ceremony in Stockholm, where a total of 38,000 was awarded in the presence of education experts from around the world.

When is it?
eSchola activities take place from 14 February 2003 onwards. There is a special campaign period from 7 April to 9 May 2003, during which there will be a special focus on themes such as History, Special Needs, Languages, Global Outlook, Arts, and European Citizenship.

The deadline for entries to the eLearning Awards is 9 May 2003.

How can I take part?

Showcase your school and/or your project on the eSchola website.

Enjoy projects and work by colleagues from all over the world.

Submit your project to the eLearning Awards.

Find a partner school, or form a cluster of schools and work together during eSchola 2003.

Find a partner school, or form a cluster of schools and work together during the next school year – showcase your results in eSchola 2004.

Engage your students in the debate on the future of Europe, and/or organise a Europe day at school.